MUNICIPAL DISTRICT MEETING DISCUSSES HOSPITALIZATION PLAN

Farm Short Course Well Attended Here

BEISEKER.—A good crowd attended the Farm Short Course held in the Memorial hall on Thursday, Feb. 15 from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Mr. Matt Schmaltz acted as chairman and called on Mr. N. F. Bell, district agriculturist to introduce the different speakers. The short course then opened with a film showing the progress of machinery in soil conservation—drifting of the soil in the 30's, etc.

After this show, Mr. W. S. Backman, field supervisor, Kneehill MD had a splendid display of different seeds, so as to compare the good clean seed with the dirty seed, and the necessity of having good seed. He stated that 35 per cent of the farmers seed No. 1 and No. 2 seed, whilst too many seed what would be rejected. Mr. Backman is the new supervisor replacing the late Mr. Gentleman, and he spent a lot of time with different farmers so as to be acquainted with the people whom he will be working with.

At this time lunch was served in the basement with Miss Dora Schmaltz catering.

After lunch Mr. N. F. Bell spoke on tree planting, shelter belt and ornamental tree planting. To illustrate this more clearly Mr. Bell showed films taken at his former home in Scott, Sask., showing some homes before and after plantation, which was very much enjoyed by all.

After this lecture the ladies retired to the basement for a series of lectures by themselves, and the men continued with their next lecture on weed control by Mr. H. F. Irwin, field supervisor, Starland MD. He spoke mostly on the four bad weeds of which hoarycress is the worst. However the biggest loss suffered by the farmers has been with wild oats. He recommended a chemical for weed control, and although this does not kill it is to be used wherever practical in cultural practices.

The next speaker was Mr. C. A. Cheshire, extension engineer, department of agriculture, who spoke on the different machinery and the proper use of them for soil conservation. He recommended the farmers not to cultivate too deeply, and said that all machines except the seed drill should not be pulled any faster than four miles per hour, so as to avoid erosion by wind.

Mr. G. R. Sterling, supervisor soil conservation and weed control, department of agriculture was the final speaker for the men's section and he spoke on Farm Management, and stressed the point of better farming, and necessity for raising more food for all the world. In explaining the reason for this he quoted the increase in population for the North American continent alone and it was 2,000,000 per year.

Mrs. Sam Leiske was chairman for the ladies section, and she introduced Mr. C. A. Cheshire first who spoke on "Electricity in the Home," and stressed the fact of not skimping on the costs of wiring your home. He said that it would be more profitable to wait a few years, or else do without one of the larger electrical appliances than to cut down in the cost of wiring the home.

Next speaker was Miss M. Smith, district home economist who spoke on "Buying of Clothes."

BEISEKER.—A ratepayers meeting of the Municipal District of Kneehill No. 48, Division No. 3 was held in the Acme Memorial hall, with a good turnout of our Beiseker people in spite of the bad roads.

Councillor Matt Schmaltz explained the road building progress in the division, and reported that there are 23 miles government gravelled highway in Division 3; 67 miles gravelled and 100 elevated roads; 33 pile bridges and hundreds of culverts in the division. Twelve miles of road was gravelled at an average cost of $800 per mile and 12 miles new and regrading at $350 per mile in the past year. Snow plowing cost $1,000; motor patrol work for maintainers cost the division $3,000. A total of $21,222 was spent for roads in Division 3 in 1950.

Mr. A. J. Purvis, the municipal treasurer read and explained the financial statement of the municipality and pointed out that the income for the year was $668-105.37. Total expenditures were $637,234.46 leaving a surplus for the year of $30,870.91. Total assets of $362,279.16 will run the municipality for approximately six months.

Mr. Purvis also spoke on the Municipal Hospital Act and pointed out that the Acme and Beiseker district was about the only area that was not in any hospital district in the municipality, and felt that the ratepayers should do something about it, and probably organize their own hospital district, because he felt that the minister of health might join the district to some other hospital district already established. He also gave a full explanation of the proposed County Act.

Mr. W. S. Backman, field supervisor spoke briefly on the work of the Agricultural Service Board.

Mr. Schmaltz and Mr. Purvis were pleased to answer a large number of questions.

Chairman for this meeting was Mr. E. M. Brown.

PERSONALS

We are glad to say that Leighton Wright may possibly be able to return to school this week, after a long siege of illness. At the present time he is feeling very well.

Beiseker and District were sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Nicky Schmaltz from our town. Nicky has accepted a position at Vulcan and we wish him the best of luck in his new position.

Miss Viola Meidinger was home for the week end.

To sum up her talk she stated that buying clothes, so as to look smart does not determine nor govern the price of your clothes. Three points that she wished the ladies to remember were: 1, Plan the wardrobe; 2, Buy intelligently; 3, Keep them wearable.

The last speaker was Miss Crawford for the Calgary Power. She is the writer of the Reddy Reader that you receive with your power bill, and asked the ladies to send in any questions to her, and she will be very glad to answer them. She thoroughly explained how to use and clean the electrical washing machine and the frigidaire, and as the time was getting late the rest of the time was spent in answering questions from the ladies.

A question period was used all day after the various lectures, and this seemed very helpful in solving some farm difficulties.

AIR MARSHAL W. A. Curtis has told Eisenhower of Canada's planes in the air. Royal Canadian Air Force will build up mighty armada to protect Canada from any air-borne enemy.

Stalin Objects

In any plan to re-arm Western Europe against the threat of Communist invasion, it is necessary that Western Germany be included. To re-arm all of Europe without taking in that part of Germany now occupied by the Western powers, would be tantamount to leaving the front door wide open to the aggressor.

Strangely enough, the Germans themselves kick against preparing their own defense. Any overtures now being made by France and the Atlantic pact countries to our former enemy are treated with veiled threats of immediate aggressive action by Stalin.

General Eisenhower feels that if we DON'T re-arm Germany, it would be very easy for the Russians to gobble up that defenseless area in any major conflict, and as a good soldier he's right in wanting Western Germany on our side right from the time the first shot is fired. On the other hand, Stalin's threats of aggressive action if any steps are taken to re-arm puts the Commander-in-Chief on the horns of a dilemma.

Can we woo Germany into a whole-hearted defense of Western Europe—and make her strong—before Stalin acts? Let's hope so.

To Replace Missing Stone

The Red Deer, Alberta firm that offered to replace the stolen Stone of Scone, free of charge, is not the only firm that has received royal refusal. His Majesty the King has "graciously declined an offer of the Indiana Limestone Company" of Bedford, Indiana. President of the Company, William G. Riley wired an offer to the King and received a letter from the British Embassy in Washington. The King was represented in the letter as "greatly appreciating" the offer but "regretting it is not possible for him to avail himself of your kindness".

Who knows? The next British monarch may yet be crowned Emperor without this worthless piece of Scotch rock to sit upon.

Longer Work Week

We can have our cake and eat it too, if business and industry goes on a 48 hour week. The automobile industry, for instance, on a 40 hour week hasn't been able to keep ahead of the demand for new passenger cars and trucks. Now, we're going to need new guns, tanks and planes in addition to the cars and trucks we've been buying. If every worker in the automobile and allied industries were to work 48 hours a week instead of only 40 we could have our pleasure cars and farm trucks and have our defence too! Within a year or two, if there is no shooting war, we could possibly reduce our manufacture of war machines to a pace sufficient to keep step with new technological advances, and if by that time more immigrant workers are brought in, be able to return to a 40 hour week with no loss in production for civilian consumption.

We'll admit a 48 hour week sounds ridiculously easy to farmers used to working 12 hours a day, six days a week and 8 hours doing chores on Sunday, but to Government employees who have recently been obliged to observe a 37½ hour week in place of 33, this will sound like a piece of barbaric horror.

Immigration

The Canadian Government is speeding up its immigration program, by advancing passage to anyone with thirty Canadian dollars in his pocket. Any immigrant with that much money and a head on his shoulders can make a small fortune, according to European standards, in no time at all here in Canada.

Further than that, every new worker will contribute to the wealth and defence of Canada. The Government is 100% correct in encouraging immigration to the limit.

More About Calendar Reform

By T. W. PUE

Somehow or other, when our column on calendar reform was published a few weeks ago, a copy of the LAC STE. ANNE Chronicle got into the hands of A. J. Hills, of Ottawa, Chairman of the World Calendar Association, International. Mr. Hills wrote at length pulling us up on a point or two. Here are some of his observations:

It seems that it would be giving too much credit to Pope Gregory XIII to say that the calendar after 1582 "was a big improvement over the previous one". As a matter of fact no change in the calendar structure was made at that time. The adjustment and the change made by Gregory were both related only to the leapyear rule. The defective leapyear rule of Julius Caesar was corrected in recognition of the fact that the length of the year is not 365½ days, but 365.242216. The difference between .25 and .242216 in 16 centuries had accumulated an error of 10 days. By the time England and her colonies adopted the so-called Gregorian calendar the error had grown to 11 days and these were cut out between September 2nd and September 14, 1752.

But apart from dropping 10, or 11 days out of the calendar, and providing that century years of which the first two digits are not divisible by 4 should be ordinary years, no change in the calendar was made.

It is too bad that Pope Gregory did not make some changes in the calendar structure, but he left the months just as Julius Caesar had imperfectly assembled them 45 years before the birth of Christ. The old story that Augustus changed the months to have the month named after him as long as Julius Caesar's—although formerly accepted by even such an authoritative work as the Encyclopaedia Britannica has of recent years been dropped.

While what was then the sixth month was named for Augustus by resolution of the Senate, and plebs, Augustus is cleared of the crime of muddling up the calendar by giving August 31 days.

The writings of Censorinus and Macrobius show pretty clearly that Julius Caesar was responsible for the months just as we have them today. It is proper however to state that the irregularity of the structure of the present Gregorian calendar comes directly from superstition so strongly held by Romans that odd numbers were lucky and even numbers unlucky.

When Numa Pompilius about 713 B.C. added after December the two months January and February to the 10 months of the early Roman calendar, every month but one in his 12 months calendar of 355 days had an odd number of days, either 31 or 29, but to make an odd number of days in the year (so that the year would be lucky as well as 11 of the 12 months) February was given 28 days. Four months had 31 days, seven had 29, and one, February, had 28.

When Caesar, with the assistance of Sosigenes, put his 365 day calendar in force, his action according to the version of Censorinus as given in Dr. William Smith's Smaller Dictionary of Greek and Roman Antiquities, was as follows:

"Accordingly, to the 355 days of the previously existing year he added ten days, which he so distributed between the seven months having 29 days that January, Sextiles (August) and December received two each, the others but one; and these additional days he placed at the end of the several months, no doubt with the wish not to remove the various festivals from those positions in the several months which they had so long occupied."

Much the same reason is given for not disturbing February.

It is evident that there was nothing scientific about the arrangement of months as this came down to us. It was no doubt 'good enough for the times'. That too is probably what Sosigenes thought of the leapyear rule which on his advice Caesar adopted, as it was known 100 years earlier that the length of the year was not quite 365½ days. Probably coming from Alexandria, his view was 'good enough for these Romans'. After all the leapyear rule was only out 10 days in 16 centuries.

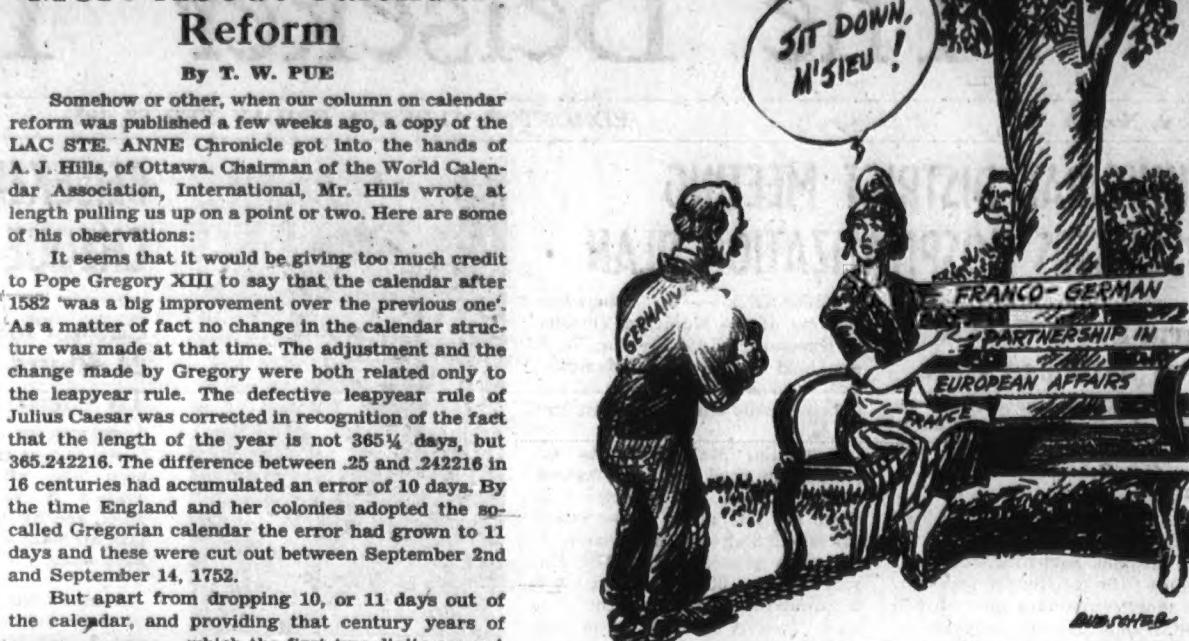

What I meant to convey about New Year's is that the 1st of January always coming on a Sunday, observance would ordinarily be on Monday the 2nd. However Mr. Hills proposal is that much of the ceremonial attaching now to New Year's EVE would with The World Calendar in effect focus on the coming of WORLDSDAY, also that to this day would be transferred some New Year's Day functions.

Note and Comment

We do not believe that Western Canada is in any danger of a Russian invasion. Just think what would happen to heavy Soviet tanks if they ever hit some of the country roads. It may be that the deplorable roads are regarded as a defence measure by the powers-that-be in Ottawa.

* * * *

It isn't the buildings or the streets or the industries that make a town. It is the people.

Joseph Stalin is the disgruntled interloper who objects to any attempt by the Western Powers to re-arm Germany and equip her to defend herself against any future armed aggression.

Religious Wars

Dear Sir—Peace may be the basis of the Christian doctrine, but any study of religious teaching shows that its ultimate end is preparation for total war.

The most brutal wars of history have been wars of religion. The vicious character of the Hebrew race is recorded many times in their wars.

Other races before and after Christ fought bloody and savage wars—either in defence of, or to promote, their particular religion.

After Christianity became the accepted religion of the Romans, the persecution of anyone who stood in the way of the Catholic church became a standing rule. Its savagery.

In AD 1588 an invasion of England was attempted by Spain. The attack was instigated and paid for by the Catholic Pope. The objective was to smash the Reformation.

At the Council of Trent the Bible as we know it was composed through selecting various manuscripts from early writers. They selected, and rejected, many ancient epistles from various sources in making up the Bible.

If you want to know my sources, I will give them to you.

Barbers Like to Live

Dear Sir—In answer to Frank Krenn (laughing hyena) I think you are a very greedy and cheap man. After all, all people work just like you to make an honest living.

I'll have you know that my husband is a barber, and his expenses are quite high. He not only has to replace a burned out light bulb as you mention, but has to pay for his rent, water, electricity, hair oil, shampoos, powder, soaps, etc., every month.

Believe me, at the end of the month he hasn't much left over.

So please, Frank Krenn, don't criticize other people, and do get a haircut and shave once in a while.

Co-operatives

Dear Sir—I was interested in your editorial on whether the churches should support co-operatives.

The Roman Catholic church has supported co-operatives for a long time.

Only a very prejudiced person would refuse to support co-operatives because they are made up of every kind of human being.

Co-operatives deserve support by all fair-minded people because they represent the golden rule in economic enterprise.

I am under the impression that one of the aims of most churches is to raise the moral standards of people. If I am correct, the question of church support for co-operatives has to be answered with an emphatic Yes!

More Toleration

Dear Sir—I liked your editorial on 'I Remember Mother.' But eight years ago you could not have said your grandfather had come from Germany or your mother was a little German girl from the U.S.A. without seriously jeopardizing the subscription list of your paper. Now that World War II is over you may safely publicize your national background.

We need more toleration in this country, and I hope your paper will pledge itself to true fair-play and democratic behavior on the part of your readers.

A News Section About Alberta People,
Week Ending Feb. 24, 1951

Alberta Employment Prospects Bright For 1951, Says N.E.S.

Alberta's employment outlook, dimmed by mounting unemployment figures of the winter months, is bright for the rest of the year, according to National Employment Service officials in Edmonton.

Unemployed in northern and central Alberta registered with the Edmonton office of the national employment service at the week-end numbered 6,940, an increase of only 17 from the previous week's total, according to a report issued Monday by P. I. Cameron, public relations officer for the unemployment insurance commission in Edmonton.

Of these applicants, 5,198 are men and 1,742 women. Unfilled vacancies increased by 219 to 1,157, while the number of applicants placed in jobs also increased by 118, to 505. Total of claimants for unemployment insurance benefits now registered is 5,894.

"The general employment picture in northern Alberta is good," Mr. Cameron said, "and indications are that the peak in unemployment here has been reached." This is earlier than usual for the peak figure, which is generally reached early in March.

STENOGRAPHERS NEEDED

At present there are many calls for male and female stenographers. In fact, "this situation may almost be termed desperate," Mr. Cameron stated. During the past six months there has been a steady demand for stenographers, averaging about 50 calls, and offering good wages. The demand is expected to increase during the next few months.

Little difficulty is anticipated in placing university graduates this year. Calls already on hand for engineering and commerce graduates will take care of practically all those graduating this spring. A branch office of the N.E.S. at the University of Alberta, under the supervision of J. R. Washburn, operates full time to assist graduates in finding permanent employment, and undergraduates in finding suitable summer jobs which will give them practical experience.

It has been announced by Hon. Milton F. Gregg, federal minister of labor, that a smaller university graduating class across the country this year, coupled with an increasing demand for technical personnel in expanding defence projects is likely to create a strong demand for graduates.

REQUIREMENTS SUBMITTED

The minister said that many employers, realizing this possibility have already submitted their requirements to the employment service, much earlier than last year. He advised those students who have not already contacted the employment offices to do so as soon as possible.

Despite the expected heavy demand, Mr. Gregg pointed out that there still will be the problems involved in bringing the prospective employers and employees together, as in some cases they are widely separated in different parts of the country. As a result, the full attention of the officials of the executive and professional division of the N.E.S. and the cooperation of all concerned will be as necessary as in previous years.

TOTAL GRADUATES

Last year at this time, the report stated, considerable difficulty was expected in placing the abnormally large graduating class of 17,000 but the vast majority had been absorbed by August. This year's class has been estimated at about 13,000, and some of these may be expected to continue post-graduate studies.

Of the total of university students expected to graduate this spring, about 2,450 are in engineering, nearly 4,000 in B.A. and B.Sc. arts and science courses, 860 in commerce and business administration, 500 in agriculture, 1,140 in education, 900 in medicine, and 500 in law. The remainder are in various specialist courses. Estimates of the totals of students expected to graduate in the next four years, based on present registrations, show a decrease to 10,000 in 1954.

Golden Glove Tournament Slated For Feb. 22-23

The Optimist Golden Glove Tournament, sponsored by the Edmonton Optimist Club, "Friend of the Boy," will be held in the Sales Pavilion, Exhibition Grounds, Thursday and Friday nights, Feb. 22 and 23, starting at 8:00 p.m.

Golden Gloves Champions are amateurs, and although all do not go on from boxing amateurship to become professional, those that do, usually achieve a fair degree of success. Some of the Pro King Pins who have come up through the Golden Gloves are Joe Louis, Essard Charles, Sugar Ray Robinson and Ike Williams. Through the careful schooling they receive from the time they begin amateur boxing, bringing the fighter along slowly, until such time as he becomes a Golden Gloves winner, when he is launched on his professional career he has become a master of boxing fundamentals, which gives him a better opportunity to make his mark in the boxing world.

In the past two years, the Optimist Golden Gloves Tournament has seen many fine boxers from districts about Alberta, such as Barrhead, Grande Prairie, Lacombe, Red Deer and Calgary.

This year indications are that there will be even more boys, all boxing in the hope of winning the Golden Gloves. Any boxer with an amateur card is eligible and should write for a registration form immediately.

Alberta Students, Teachers Play Part In Civil Defence

The provincial department of education is preparing civil defence literature for distribution to every school in the province, according to Dr. W. H. Swift, deputy minister of education.

Dr. Swift added, teachers will be instructed in proper procedure in case of an air attack. He said there were two reasons for stressing the role played by schools in civil defence—first, is to ensure the safety of teachers and students—the second is to provide reassurance to parents. If each parent knows that his children are being looked after, he can conduct his own particular defence job calmly and efficiently, without worry or panic.

"We are proceeding cautiously, but thoroughly, not wanting to rush into emergency precautions without necessity."

Dr. Swift explained air raid drill is designed to train children to seek the safest place within the school itself. He compared this to fire drill, which is designed to evacuate the building as quickly as possible. All children in the province should know the principles of self-protection and mutual aid. The city children are given

BONSPIEL OPENS WITH 31 LOCAL AND DISTRICT RINKS PARTICIPATING

BEISEKER.—The Beiseker Curling Bonspiel opened last Monday with 31 rinks competing. There were 18 outside rinks from Carbon, Strathmore, Rockyford, Suffield, Trochu, Irricana and Acme. It is hoped that the weather remains cold, so that the ice will be in good shape both for the curlers and the skaters. In next week's issue we will give you the winning rinks and also the name of our Carnival Queen and carnival results.

The Beiseker Curlers who had challenged Irricana to a game as you read in last week's paper journeyed to Irricana last Sunday for another game, and Irricana had the same tough luck with Beiseker beating them with a score of 14-7. It seems that the men enjoy the big meal that follows more than the game itself, because the cooks have really been praised for the splendid banquets served! This time Mrs. Harry Long prepared the sumptuous meal. As Mr. Dick Young could not be present he was replaced by Mr. Reu Miller, Keoma.
